Price 5 Cents

The smoke tree has been given much publicity through the vigorous protest of the cutting of smoke trees in the main water channel through Smoke Tree Forest in Araby. Main water channels must be kept free of trees and brush. It is one of the regrettable prices we are forced to pay to "Progress" and in this instance residents of Smoke Tree Forest pay the greater portion of that price for they live among the smoke trees, know them personally, and dislike seeing a single one harmed. Much quiet discussion was held to perfect ways and means of saving the trees in the main water channel but certain "obstacles" would not permit of changing the course of the present flow of water into its former and logical channel.

H. W. Otis of Araby planted the Smoke Tree Forest. That is probably news to many persons who have been uninformed as to the many generous and patriotic civic deeds quietly carried out by Mr. Otis; much of this in the face of personal criticism and other problems. It was with the deepest regret that Mr. Otis witnessed the removal of some of Smoke Tree Forest. Before Mr. Otis moved to Araby there was a straggling scattering of smoke trees in Palm Canyon Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Otis gathered smoke tree seeds, preserved them until the following spring, then planted them in Palm Canyon Wash and from this planting came the beautiful smoke tree forest in Araby. If it had not been for the interference of persons not owning property in Smoke Tree Forest the water channel could have been changed to its former location and very few of the smoke trees disturbed.

As a property owner and resident of Smoke Tree Forest in Araby and as a naturalist the cutting of the smoke trees is a serious question and this amazing storm of protest is at once gratifying and puzzling for I have been laboring to bring the desert to the attention of the citizens of Palm Springs and had just about come to the conclusion that it was all a futile and expensive task for it has absorbed much of my personal funds and there has not been forthcoming a single cent of free contribution by any citizen, business man or organization in Palm Springs. I feel now with all this protest that I have made progress and it is perfectly legitimate to ask for free contributions from residents of Palm Springs or at least ask them to match in like amount my personal contributions. I might add that last season two Eastern visitors came to me voluntarily with a small sum of money and instructions to spend it in connection with naturalist work on the desert.

However, I do not want any of my friends or acquaintances to start dodging me for I do not intend to ask for any contributions. Plans are being made with a few residents to place one thousand copies of my booklet, "Palm Springs Desert Area" in the libraries of communities in the Northern states for at present there is no literature of Palm Springs in these libraries. And I am furnishing the books at cost. In fact the booklet was placed on the market at cost and with my personal financing. Of the many, many localities I have visited, Palm Springs Desert Area is the most delightful winter place I know, hence much of my interest beyond that of science.

But to return to the smoke trees; it is an inevitable and necessary evil that the main water channel be kept free of smoke trees. It is not fair that non-residents of Araby or Smoke Tree Ranch attempt to block the clearing of the channel for storm waters must be taken care of. I just wonder what the fate of Smoke Tree Forest would be if it stood in the Federal Government Takes Charge of Palm Springs Indian Reservation

Climaxing the feud between factions of the Agua Caliente tribe of Indians at Palm Springs, the federal government has taken charge of the Indian affairs, financial and otherwise, with H. H. Quackenbush, law enforcement officer for Indian affairs of the Department of the Interior, for fifty reservations in California, Arizona and Nevada, personally in charge of all administrative duties of the tribe, and he will be at Palm Springs indefinitely to carry them on.

Assisting Mr. Quackenbush on Saturday and Sunday was Captain J. Allison Moore, special law enforcement officer of the Indian reservations under Superintendent John Dady of Riverside; also three Indian officers from near-by reservations.

The first action taken by the federal officer was to reduce the Palm Canyon fee to the original price of 25 cents per car. Federal road crews are at work improving the road to Palm Canyon and Andreas canyon, and picnic places will be provided in the latter for the general public.

The bath house is now also operated by the government. It has been thoroughly cleaned and will be kept clean under strict government regulations. Extensive improvements of the bath house are contemplated. Mr. Quackenbush stated yesterday that the hot sulphur springs can be developed into a great asset for the Indians, and therefore improvements will be made in order to increase revenues.

Leases made to white people on the reservation are not legal, he stated, and no more leases will be made. However, the government will not drive the white tenants off the reservation, but will adjust matters satisfactorily to whites and Indians alike.

Recently the Indian committee served notice on the white population of Palm Springs that a charge will be made for horseback riding across reservation lands. This order has been rescinded by the federal officers, the Indian committee has been dissolved, and horseback riders can now cross unoccupied reservation lands at will. Revenues from all sources will be divided monthly among the 50 Indians of the tribe, who own 39½ sections (25,280 acres) of land. The first distribution will probably be made about February 10th.

Heretofore, it is said, tribal funds were administered by the Indian committee, representing 16 adult Indians, whereas the others were not included. This will all be changed, and all Indians will share equally.

Pending outcome of a suit in the federal court, brought by one faction of the tribe who want the Indian lands allotted to tribesmen individually, nothing will be done to disturb present tentative allotments. Thos. L. Sloan, prominent Indian attorney, represents the Indians seeking allotments. Thus, Marcus Pete, Orion Hatchitt and others, who now operate valuable properties on which they have business establishments and auto camps, leased to white tenants and yielding huge revenues, will be permitted, temporarily at least, to continue to operate, under government regulation. This means that the camps and cabins must be cleaned up to meet all county, state, and federal requirements.

With the exception of J. B. Cregar's lease for the trading post at Palm Canyon, none of the leases on the reservation are legal or valid, whether for so-called allotted land or otherwise. (Continued On Sixth Page)

PLEASE

Attendance of all members of the incorporation committee next Monday evening is requested by Chairman Frank Bennett and other members of the committee who were present at the committee meeting last Monday evening. The meeting had to be postponed because there was not a quorum present, only eight members showing up. The committee has 31 members.

On deck but unable to do anything about matters last Monday were Chairman Bennett, Guy Pinney, Philip Boyd, Alvah Hicks, Frank Shannon, Harold Hicks, Horace Cook and Roy Colgate. There were also three persons, including The Desert Sun reporter present as a prospective audience.

Lions Club To Be Formed Here

Palm Springs will probably soon have its first service club.

Eighteen local business men met at the office of Raymond Cree last night and made tentative plans for the formation of a Lions Club here. Raymond Cree was chosen temporary president and Dr. Franz Buerger temporary secretary.

A committee, consisting of Francis Crocker, Joe Schobe and Jack Williams, was appointed to sign up the members, and they are active today calling on various men who it is believed would be interested in forming such a club here.

R. C. Harris, special field representative of Lions International office in Chicago, was present at last night's meeting, and he is working with the membership committee today.

Frank Thackery of the department of agriculture office in India, and a member of the Lions Club, was also present. Those who attended the meeting are confident that the club will be formed.

The new club is to receive permission from international headquarters to meet only during the winter months, taking a vacation in the summer.

American Air Lines To Use Local Air Field

Palm Springs is now on the Federal Airways and transcontinental airlines will probably soon use the local airport as an emergency landing field.

The airport is to become a lighted field as soon as American Airways receives approval from the U. S. Department of Commerce.

American Airways desires to use the local airport as an emergency field, and for this reason it must be lighted whenever airlines are in this vicinity. The aviation corporation proposes to install electric boundary lights and one flood light, and must

Local High School Plans Reviewed by Chamber of Commerce Members

Members of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce who attended the meeting of the high school board in Banning Wednesday evening were satisfied with plans of the new Palm Springs high school.

Architects from the office of G. Stanley Wilson, who is the architect for the school, Principal Leroy Beam, and members of the high school board exhibited sketches and floor plans of the new buildings to be constructed here on a 15-acre site east of the Field Club.

They stated that the full $100,000, as had originally been allocated to the Palm Springs school, would be spent here and that nothing had been omitted from the plans excepting a work shop. The shop was eliminated because it was the only thing the board felt could be left out when it was learned that original plans would cost more than had been appropriated, said Mr. Beam. There had never been any intention to substitute some other type of roof for the tile roof, or to get along without an athletic field, said Chairman Vincent Stone and Principal Beam. Mr. Beam stated that WPA authorities had promised to build the athletic field, including the track and four cement tennis courts, and were even considering a swimming pool. The entire WPA project will also include landscaping the grounds, planting trees and shrubs, oiling the streets, constructing cement walks. All of this will cost about 40,000 it was estimated and is in addition to the $100,000 appropriated for the buildings. A W.P.A. loan was

Chamber of Commerce Discusses Important Matters at Lively Meet

The proposed broadcasting station, bus line, bicycles on sidewalks, trucks on the main street, street signs, and the new Palm Springs high school were the principal matters acted upon at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

A letter from Mrs. Ann J. Levine was read, asking for the Chamber's approval of her proposed broadcasting station. Secretary Shannon also read a letter from an official of the bureau of aeronautics, stating that the application would be submitted to that department for approval before the permit is granted in order to ascertain if the radio tower near the proposed new airport would constitute a hazard to airplanes.

Thomas Lipps, attorney for Mrs. Levine, spoke in behalf of the station. He asked that the Chamber either approve or disapprove the matter, whereupon a motion was passed to appoint a committee to investigate. President Frank Bennett appointed Frank V. Shannon, A. G. McManus, Warren Pinney, Chuck Morrison and Gus Parrish on the committee.

Mr. Levine was called upon for a statement, and he said the station would be owned and operated by his wife. He said it would operate every day of the year, 18 hours of the day. It will become affiliated with a national network, and local establishments will not be solicited for advertising, he said. The station will operate under 100 watts of power in the daytime and 250 watts at night, he said.

New Bus Line

A communication was read from W. Monroe Seibold, who with Glenn Martin has recently received a franchise from the State Railroad Commission to operate a bus line between Cane Brake road in the north part of town and Cathedral City. He stated that the certificate of convenience from the commission grants only the right to operate along Indian avenue. However, if the Chamber would give its approval, he thought the franchise would be changed to enable the buses to operate on Palm Canyon Drive, in which event small deluxe buses would be installed. He also asked for approval of his petition to operate a bus line to Palm Canyon.

By motion, Secretary Shannon was instructed to write Mr. Seibold that the Chamber of Commerce had not

Amos 'n' Andy Return for Long Stay

From the broadcasting room in El Mirador tower, the voices of Amos 'n' Andy went upon the air waves Monday, beginning three months of broadcasting from Palm Springs.

The famous air team, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, arrived last week-end from Chicago, with their announcer, Bill Hay, to take over from their winter headquarters. Correll opened the fine new home which he and Mrs. Correll purchased here last season, while Gosden, his secretary and Bill Hay, arrived by train to be guests at El Mirador. Mrs. Gosden and Mrs. Correll will join their husbands here within a few weeks.

Harness Races, Gymkhana, Sunday

Palm Springs ladies will drive some of the fastest trotting and pacing horses on the Pacific coast as they race at the Palm Springs Field Club on Sunday afternoon, January 10, for the coveted title of champion lady amateur harness race driver of California.

A state championship is at stake in this, one of many thrilling equestrian events on the program at the Palm Springs Field Club Sunday afternoon. The first of the regular Sunday professional harness races will start the program off at 1:30 p. m.

A series of thrilling gymkhana events is also on the program, with local Palm Springs horses and riders competing for prizes.

Hollywood McKinney, the speedy trotting horse which set a new record on the Palm Springs Field Club track here last week-end, is among the field of fast Pacific coast harness race horses that will be seen in action. The horse covered the mile in 2:12 4/5 to win last week-end here with the owner, T. Crawford, driving.

The ladies and the horses they drove in preliminary races to qualify for the California amateur championship race in which they will compete for the state lady amateur drivers title Sunday are: Mrs. George Roberson driving Hal Woolen; Mrs. Harold Hicks driving Watson Peter; Mrs. James B. Oliver piloting Star Bright and Mrs. Francis Crocker, who will drive Cinco Bond in the championship event.

Another interesting amateur event on the afternoon's program at the Special Sale on Electric Appliances

The Nevada-California Electric Corporation, formerly Southern Sierras Power Co., is conducting a special sale in Palm Springs on electric appliances at very special prices giving buyers the assurance of:

1. Small monthly payments that you will hardly notice, paid with your monthly electric bill, with no high carrying charges. 3% interest on unpaid balances—not on full purchase price.
2. Free installation, with no charge for special wiring. No fuss or muss.
3. Free servicing by trained company experts at all times. No need to worry about any appliance "going wrong." In addition to the guarantee is the iron-clad warranty of the manufacturer.

See large advertisement in this issue.

Turned back from the coast by adverse weather conditions, seven huge air ships, six of American Airlines and one of Pan-American Airlines, have made landings with utmost safety and ease at the Palm Springs Airport during the last two weeks.

(By Carl Barkow)

"Are you a polemic?" I was asked the other day by Hobart Garlick. I hardly knew what to answer. Thinking that he may have found a new word for polygamist or an individual allergic to pollen, my first thought was to tell him that I have been married only once and that I have had hay fever. To such a question Don Admiral probably would have replied, "If you want to know whether I have a proclivity for the polemical family of metachlamydeous dicotyledonous plants, among which you will find the polemoniaceae convolvulaceae, menthaceae, solanaceae and scrophulariaceae, then I am a polemic." I have now learned that a polemic is, and will confess that, to a certain degree, I am a polemic, because sometimes I do write my opinions on controversial subjects, but I would not want to be known as a controversialist or a disputant.

Why a railroad man, who probably can ride free on his railroad, would "buck" the snowdrifts on the highway in San Geronio Pass, is a little difficult for me to figure out. However, the genial traveling agent of the Southern Pacific, Jerry Farlin, came through the snow from Riverside by automobile early this morning, and had the pleasure of seeing numerous trucks stalled in the snow along the highway. He beamed like Old Sol himself as he enjoyed the warmth and sunshine of Palm Springs. When asked if the Southern Pacific wasn't still running trains, Jerry replied: "Sure they are. More than ever before, and they're running on time. I got some new hockey skates, so I thought I would try them out on the wheels of my car. They worked fine. Oh, boy, this sunshine feels good. If the rest of the folks knew what I know now, the whole country would be in Palm Springs today." Jerry planned to go to India later today to watch the ranchers load carrots and grapefruit to be shipped to the frozen East.

Some time ago Don Admiral wrote that he had found no one who had seen a roadrunner kill a rattlesnake. However, this week Howard Ames, of the Lindop office, informed me that he had seen a roadrunner kill a sidewinder by pecking it to death. Howard has been a resident of this desert region for 22 years, and has walked over most of it. One day he found a roadrunner's nest. With the aid of an ornithologist they secured a sidewinder and placed it near the nest, and armed with a motion picture camera, they awaited arrival of the mother bird. She soon returned, and with a vengeance only exhibited by a mother when her young are in danger, she attacked the reptile until it was dead, without suffering injury herself, while the motion picture camera made a permanent record of the fight.

Palm Springs people have no right to complain of cold weather. With most of the nation blanketed in snow, and all the rest of Southern California colder than it is right here, surely we should be willing to accept a small portion of the temporary inconvenience, especially when we get liberal doses of sunshine with it. This is a winter resort, but we shouldn't expect it to be heaven.

A Lions Club is to be organized in Palm Springs. Here's hoping the new club will be launched, for we have ample evidence that a service club is one of the best assets any community can have. It fosters friendship and good fellowship among the business men of a com-

Bad Weather Brings Many To El Mirador

With the coming of the bad weather in Los Angeles an unusually large number of socially prominent Los Angeles people have arrived in Palm Springs. Among those at El Mirador were the Stanley Barbees of Beverly Hills, who have returned to El Mirador for the third time this season and are planning to stay for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Chappellet (the former Helen Bullock) arrived at El Mirador on New Year's Eve in time for the festivities and are thinking of staying for the rest of the winter. Mrs. Chappellet is an ardent equestrienne and she and Mr. Chappellet have been enjoying the desert riding, as well as the night clubs of Palm Springs.

Also arriving on New Year's Eve to spend the week were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fewel of West Los Angeles.

Enjoying the sun at El Mirador's pool were the Leslie Kelleys, their beautiful daughter, Gloria, who is in attendance at Miramonte School for Girls, and Sharon Ann, their five-year-old daughter. The Kelleys are frequent visitors at El Mirador and had as their guest Miss Carol Huseman, also of Miramonte School.

Enjoying the harness races were Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Shepherd with their guests, the Wm. K. Young, who are spending the week at El Mirador.

From their beautiful ranch in Tulare came the Hugh C. Merritts, their daughter, Helen Jane Frick of San Francisco, and their two sons, Robert and Walter, who are members of Alpha Delta Fraternity and are in attendance at the University of California. The Merritts are also among the socially prominent of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Call of Los Angeles and their sons, Dick, Teddy and Harry, are staying at El Mirador for the next two weeks; also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bortmuns.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Chartrand left El Mirador to spend a week at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, before returning to New York.

Arriving from Miami Beach, Florida, were the two beautiful daughters of Major and Mrs. Charles Cranford, Monrovia and Victoria Cranford. Major Cranford, while making a tour of the United States, became so pleased with the Palm Springs climate that he sent for the rest of his family to join him here and plans to make Palm Springs his permanent residence.

Joining the other prominent European people at El Mirador were the Baron and Baroness de Baubigny of Paris, France, who are members of one of the oldest and most respected families in France.

Jack Dingwall, who has been spending the holidays at El Mirador with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Dingwall, returned to his studies at Williams College.

Also ending his vacation with his parents, was young Warren Pinney, Jr., who returned by plane to Dartmouth College where he is an undergraduate.

The influx of English people to Palm Springs and the fame which Palm Springs has acquired in England is very amazing. Edmund Goulding, a resident of Palm Springs, gave a party at his beautiful home for all the English people at El Mirador and all who are very prominent in the London social circles. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fishburn, who are spending their first winter at El Mirador, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Fiske (the former Lady Chaytor), Sir William Chaytor, Miss Ann Chaytor, Mrs. Holding, Major Cuthbert Stewart, who is spending the winter with the Burton Fiskes, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Benson, Mr. and Mrs. de St. Mars, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mead and Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Brien, all of London, were among those attending. Cary Grant, who is spending the week at El Mirador and is of course from England, was the only other local person present.

Several very prominent people of the moving picture world have migrated to Palm Springs to avoid the showers of Los Angeles. John Boles and his beautiful wife have been enjoying the Dunes Club facilities and afternoon horseback rides. Mr. Boles is a very good horseman and rides three and four hours each day.

Recovering from bad colds are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dix, who are planning an indefinite stay at El Mirador.

Cary Grant and Townsend Netcher have a bungalow at El Mirador. Also ardent equestriennes are Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Lubitsch, who have taken two horses for the month and every day make long trips into the canyons near Palm Springs. With them at El Mirador are Mrs. Lubitsch's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Besenecet.

The reunion of the Hal Roach family is being held at El Mirador. Hal, Jr., has returned from his college in the East, Margaret from her girl's school and Mr. and Mrs. Roach from Los Angeles.

Wandering around the desert looking for locations was the very well known director, Dick Rosson, who with his charming wife, is spending the week at El Mirador.

Stopping over at El Mirador while on his way to New York with T. D. Rogers, was Mr. Herbert L. Voigt, former publicity director of Universal studios.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Berg, the former Leila Hyams, are frequent visitors to El Mirador, spending most of their time at the Racquet Club, playing game after game of tennis.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wood, with their lovely daughter, Gloria, who is a popular co-ed at U.S.C., and had as her guest Pat Stanley, were guests of El Mirador over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Small and their son, Bud Small, spent the week at El Mirador with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rosson.

Arriving in time to arrange a party at the Dunes Club on New Year's Eve, for their numerous friends, were Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Warner.

On a business trip as well as a social visit, was Mrs. Regis Toomy, who is a guest of the Burton Fiskes at El Mirador for the week. Mrs. Toomy, who has a fine linen shop in Hollywood, is arranging to display all of her lovely linens in Palm Springs. Her husband, Regis Toomy, is in New York working in a very successful play and will return as soon as the play is finished.

Arriving in Palm Springs in three Waco cabin airplanes were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fairbanks, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Bowler, Mr. and Mrs. Lasher Gallagher, Miss Jocelyn Oakes, Frank Muller and John Trent. Mr. Trent, the "discovery" of the late Mr. Schulberg and a former T. W. A. pilot, is now working on the current Paramount production, "A Doctor's Diary."

David A. Warfield arrived from New York City and to spend the week at El Mirador.

Arriving to spend the day at El Mirador, visiting the former Olympic diving champion, Harold "Dutch" Smith, was Duke Kahanamoku, also an Olympic champion and the present sheriff of Honolulu. With him were his foster father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Les A. Henry, who are socially prominent in Los Angeles, and their son, Tom Henry, who is the director of the Pasadena Play House.

Bill Henry, a well known actor at M-G-M, and Jerry Vultee, builder and designer of a great number of planes including the Vultee ship in which Harry Richmond flew to Europe, visited here.

One of the gayest and most elaborate parties in Palm Springs was the one given by Mrs. Walter W. White of Inglewood, New Jersey, who is spending her fourth winter at El Mirador. Her guests included her Eastern friends and the many very good friends she has made in Palm Springs, among whom were Dr. and Mrs. James B. Oliver, Miss Helen Lindsay, Harold "Dutch" Smith, Miss Vera Waterman, Mrs. Dovie Golden Colley, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Love, all of Palm Springs, and Mrs. W. L. Adams of Seattle, Mrs. Henry L. Coffin of Yakima, Washington, Lieutenant Luke, Jack Dingwall of Detroit, Miss Rita Hansen, Bill McKenzie of Palo Alto, Miss Dorothy Moore, Miss Barbara Schenk, Frank Johnston, Dick Fitzpatrick and Frank Bogert.

A farewell party as well as a New Year's Eve celebration, was the one given by Warren Pinney, Jr., for his young friends who also returned to their respective colleges. His guests included Miss Sue Atkinson, Jean Fulford, Pat Percival, Elaine Littlejohn, Carl Phillips, Harry Reid, Jr., and Joe Henderson.

Arriving with their children for an indefinite stay at El Mirador were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Howard of San Francisco. Mr. Howard is expecting great things for his horses in the coming racing season and is greatly interested in future racing in Palm Springs.

Horse Lovers' Matinee

The question of what to do on Tuesdays has at last been solved. Those equine-minded or otherwise, hurry down to the Araby-Palm Springs Stables to view a spectacular performance called The Horse Lovers' Matinee. Each Tuesday from three to four there is put on a complete performance with music; each different from the performance of the previous week.

Last Tuesday's performance started off with a saddling and bridling race, followed in order by Roman riding by Del Smith; a stock horse drill; a water race; riding and jumping without reins or stirrups; mounting-riding and dismounting without a girth on the saddle; removing the saddle from a horse's back while riding at the canter and the riding of a bucking bronco. The winner of the lucky number this week was Bill Rabb.

Those who have any talent in "equitation" are urged to participate in the performance. Some of the guest performers of previous performances have been Carl Raswan, the author of "Black Tents of Arabia"; Mrs. Carl Freshwater of New York City; Miss Jane Lykken of Palm Springs and Del Smith of Palm Springs.

Music for last week's performance was by the three cowboys from the Palm Springs Hotel.

BEAUMONT CRASH ENDS IN FATALITY

Death at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday claimed Carl J. Pilkington, Yucaipa resident, and recorded Riverside county's first automobile fatality of the new year. Pilkington was injured when the car he was driving on the highway two miles west of Beaumont crashed into the rear of a parked oil tanker shortly after 2 a. m. Sunday.

Two Los Angeles residents riding in the same car with Pilkington were injured and taken to the Riverside county hospital. They were Miss Ursula Hughes, 6629 Crescent Boulevard, Los Angeles, who remained unconscious for more than 24 hours. Her condition yesterday was described as serious by hospital attendants. Omar Wheat of the same address was cut and bruised, but is said to be recovering.

WATCH OUT FOR CHILDREN

The holidays are over and children have returned to their class rooms. During the past two weeks, some motorists may have relaxed their caution when driving past school yards, says the Public Safety department of the National Automobile Club.

The club asks you to increase your alertness when in the vicinity of school buildings. Particularly drivers should be cautious during the winter season, when streets are wet and icy a good part of the time. It's a lot harder to control a car on a sleek pavement than on a dry one.

Our school children are generally good pedestrians, but nevertheless motor vehicle accidents still take a greater toll among children of school age than any other type of accidents.

Remember the children when you drive and go slow in school districts.

"WHALE OF MOSQUITO" YARN WINS LIAR CROWN

Organized liars of the world at Chicago hailed as their queen Mrs. Gale Barnhouse of Fowlerville, Mich., deeming her to have demonstrated supremacy (for 1936) in a field hitherto reserved by traditions to husbands.

Her tale of a monstrous Michigan mosquito so voracious that it dined on the Barnhouse livestock, won her the Burlington, Wis., Liars' Club medal, awarded in Absentia with appropriate ceremonies via radio.

The mosquito, the farm wife related, "used to eat up our baby chicks. After that it started tossing down brown ducks, then turkeys and finally, when it was full grown, it ate three of our calves and two of our milk cows."

"Yes, sir, she was a mean one—but the mosquito is dead now. She finally decided to tackle old Maude—that's our mule. 'Oh, oh,' I said to myself '... that's the end of as fine a mule as ever pulled a plow in Michigan.'"

"But I'll be god darned, just when that mosquito got old Maude half way down, if old Maude didn't let loose with both her hind legs and break that mosquito's back."

That was the best of 5600 whoppers entered from all parts of the world. Roman Links' San Francisco fog won second place. The fog was so thick you couldn't cut it with a knife. "It looked like an opportunity to me," Links said, "so I sprayed it with black ink, hacked out the ink-stained fog, and sold it for coal."

Mrs. C. B. Forman, Attala, Ala., kept the women in the lead with her third-place cyclone story.

"The cyclone blew the knot right out of a citizen's four-in-hand tie, and whipped the tie out of town," she said. "On the way, it wrapped the tie around a greeting card and then delivered the package to the citizen's cousin in a nearby county."

Fourth best lie was that of Maxwell Rachlin, Toronto, Canada. He told of a travel lecturer who projected a picture of Niagara Falls on his screen during a winter appearance. Someone left the hall door open and the falls froze. So the lecturer got out a forest fire picture, superimposed it on the falls and melted the ice.

THE EDITORIAL CIRCUIT RIDER

Present turmoil in China holds a new threat for world peace, in the opinion of many California editors.

The mass of intrigue prevalent in Far Eastern circles, it was believed, may be brought to a climax by the kidnapping of Chiang Kai-Shek.

"This kidnapping of Chiang Kai-Shek, virtual ruler of the whole vast and sprawling China, by one of his lieutenants," said the Coalinga Record, "was another of those Oriental events which the white man finds so difficult to understand. But the surge of popular feeling against the scheming Chiang Hsueh-Liang proved that Kai-Shek has done a better job of unifying China than anyone had guessed. If the whole thing was a Japanese plot to thwart China's strong man, then Japan has learned an unexpected lesson about the power of this dragon she's prodding."

"Chiang," according to the Hanford Sentinel, "is China's strong man. To him must go the credit for bringing China to a position of national unity, restoring order out of chaos and cementing the peaceful relations of the ancient empire with the major powers. No other leader could have achieved that remarkable victory for his people and perhaps there is no leader who could succeed him and carry on his work with equal success."

However, "his vacillating attitude toward Japan," the Pasadena Star-News remarks, "has been a subject of violent criticism, especially in the Canton region, where a rebellion threatened some months ago. This agitation was quieted by the promise of Chiang that he would pursue a firmer policy toward Japanese aggression; and until this newest coup there seemed to be a tendency to unite all factions in a determined plan of resistance to further attacks on national integrity."

"It follows," notes the Santa Monica Evening Outlook, "that both the Japanese and the Russians had reason to wish him out of the way. The man who kidnapped and probably assassinated him, Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, is an unscrupulous adventurer, the son of the former bandit ruler of Manchuria, and believed to be in the pay of Russian Communists. It is, however, equally possible that he may have acted under orders from Japan. The complexities of intrigue and counter-intrigue in China and Manchuria are such that this question can have no answer for the present."

"It would happen, too," comments the Santa Rosa Republican, "just when China at last has quit going in all directions and started pulling together, regaining her self-respect and standing firm against Japan. Kidnaping commanders-in-chief isn't ethical. Still, there might be a compromise here."

What young Marshal Chang craves is action. He is 'arin' to get on the Japs, and arouses much popular sympathy. Two such patriots, one a patient organizer and the other an Oriental Hotspur, would make a great team if they could work together."

Speculating on conflicting reports regarding the fate of Generalissimo Chiang, the San Jose News concluded: "If Kai-Shek has been murdered it will be a real blow to China's hopes of becoming unified into a modern state. It will not, however, halt China's progress, for the pressure of modern life and of Japan's aims will one day forge China into a modern, powerful nation. And when that day comes, nations who have tread on the dragon's toes had better look out."

MOORE RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF COUNTY SUPERVISORS

Marked by verbal fireworks when Supervisor E. C. Talbot charged that a "personal insult" was involved, W. C. Moore was unanimously re-elected as chairman of the Riverside county board of supervisors for 1937-38 at Monday afternoon's session of the regular weekly meeting of the governing body.

Moore's committee appointments for the two-year administration drew the wrath of Talbot when Supervisors Robert E. Dillon and Walter V. Pittman were chosen to supplant him on the prison committee.

In a lengthy statement, Talbot declared that no fault could be found with his previous duties on the committee, and that "it is a personal insult" that he was not re-elected to the position.

Other committee appointments announced by Moore following his election were:

Head—P. W. Stanfield, Moore.
Court house—Talbot, Moore.
Farm—Talbot.
Garage—Stanfield.

Supervisor Moore has served as chairman since the death of J. E. McGregor, and his re-election to the position was not unexpected. He represents the second district on the county board.

The appointment of Mr. Dillon and Mr. Pittman to control the prison camp indicates progress on construction of the Banning-Idyllwild road.

High School News

An interesting and instructive trip was taken Dec. 29 by members of the fourth year mathematics class and the Scholarship Society of B.U. H.S. The trip was planned by Miss Mabel R. Thayer, scholarship advisor. The party motored over the aqueduct route from Banning to Desert Center and home via Indio. By courtesy of the M.W.D. Mr. C. P. Weaver accompanied the students and explained the interesting points of construction. The Hayfield pump lift, the Eagle Mt. Pump lift, one of the power stations, the excavating and lining of the canal, the pouring and finishing of conduits, and inverted siphons were examined. Much interesting machinery was seen. The students were impressed by the magnitude of the project. Miss Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Weaver, and Mrs. M. E. Bundick accompanied the group. The party included Barbara Faye Brown, Nathan Cherry, Merrill Nielson, Betty Jordan, George Bundick, Jimmy Higbee, Jimmy Calhoun, Chloris Jellison, Charles Weaver, Marjorie Koger, Kathryn Hopper, George Hopper, Gene Burson, Margaret Watson, Marjorie Coombs, and Lewis Robertson.

The junior class is making plans for a dance to be given near Valentine's Day. The proceeds from this dance will go toward the fund which will pay for the junior-senior banquet. The affair will be a semi-formal dance and probably will be held at the I.O.O.F. Hall. A good orchestra and entertainment are promised. Watch for the date.

The Journalism Club held its first meeting in the year of 1937 on Tuesday, Jan. 5. The purpose of the meeting was to determine the number of journalism pins to be awarded. Faye Robinson, Marjorie Coombs, Barbara Faye Brown, Viola Madigan, Millicent Carter and Marjorie Koger received pins. The basis of award was made on the number of news articles contributed. Miss Ruth Wheeler, sponsor of the club, was presented a pin by the group. The school paper, edited by the club before the Christmas holidays, was a financial success. One reason for publishing the paper was to raise money for the fee charged by the Annual staff for a picture in the 1937 Annual.

Twelve new pupils have enrolled in the Banning Union High school. They are: Harry Calavan, from Ventura J.C., a senior; Wava Leeds, Polytechnic, a sophomore; Bernice Feinberg, Belmont High school; and Barbara Clatworthy, Estes Park High, Estes Park, Colorado, a sophomore. Freshmen: Merle Duncan, Coachella High; Wenona Jacob, Ottawa Junior High school, Ottawa, Kansas; Jack Barnes, Pampa High; Della Stuart, Manual Arts High; Gloria Schenone, Livermore High; Geneva Harrawood, Valer High; Cassel Leeds, Berendo; and Marjorie Leach, Riverside.

PATTON HOSPITAL EXTENSION ASKED

Bids were called yesterday by the state department of public works on construction of two new units for Patton state hospital at Highland, to cost approximately $360,000. The bids are to be opened in Sacramento on January 12.

The new units are to correct a seriously overcrowded condition. One unit will be a 220-bed cottage for male infirm, and completion of a duplicate building for female patients will be included. The second building, part of which was erected several years ago, will be completed with addition of 130 beds for women patients.

JORDAN OPTIMISTIC ON POPULATION GAINS

California's population will double within ten years.

Who says so? Well, it was the dean of California officials, oldest in years and consecutive terms of service, voicing his views, the other day, on our future. He is Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

"Californians have reason to be happy," he said. "Great water projects will bring into profitable production millions of acres. Industry is humming. . . . In thousands of homes those who labor are smiling. At this time let's forget the past. Prosperity invites."

Now the idea of a doubled population within ten years may sound, to many, like a dream too optimistic. But it is nevertheless not altogether beyond the bounds of reason.

Today the best estimates say there are 6,790,000 people in this state. That means an increase of 1,112,749 in the past six years. True, these figures don't seem to prophesy 13,580,000 by 1947. True, also, that the declining national birthrate is expected to halt the nation's rise in population by 1960. But the figures don't count California's great potentialities for expansion which, with returning prosperity, may attract more millions from other states than most of us foresee.

Secretary Jordan could be right.

TWO MEN IN CHARGE OF AUTO CARAVANS GET FINES

L. R. Summerville and Henry Randall were each fined $200 in Judge J. J. Fredericks' court Tuesday afternoon, when a jury found them guilty of assault.

The two men were in charge of a caravan of cars, which was stopped in Banning by motor officers Dec. 6, owing to the fact that some of the drivers did not have proper operators' licenses. The offending drivers were given 20-day sentences in the county jail.

While the caravan was being detained in town last December, one of the drivers brought the charges against Summerville and Randall. The fines were paid—$400 in all.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mueller of San Francisco are enjoying a visit with Mrs. Mueller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Foldes at the Palm Springs Hotel. They plan to enjoy the desert for several days longer before again returning to the bay region.

Mrs. Oliver on Star Bright Wins Race

Star Bright, California mile trot record holder, was piloted to victory in the ladies' amateur harness drivers' qualifying race last week-end at the Palm Springs Field Club track by Mrs. James B. Oliver, the win qualifying this star racing team for the California state championship ladies' amateur driver race to be run on the program at the Field Club next Sunday, January 10.

Mrs. Francis Crocker, piloting Cinco Bond, finished second in the race and qualified for the championship event next Sunday. Mrs. Talman Chittenden, after a fast trip by motor car from Los Angeles, arrived at the Field Club track just in time to jump in the sulky seat and drive Peter Duke in the lady amateur drivers' race. Peter Duke finished third.

Mrs. Oliver drove Star Bright over the mile in 2:15 1-5.

The hundreds of vacationists and villagers at the Field Club program last week-end were further thrilled and entertained by the Gymkhana events, participated in by local horses and riders between the regular professional harness horse races.

Miss Pat Percival won both the cowgirls' bareback saddling race and the cowgirls' quarter mile horse race, both events being sponsored by Little Bear, prominent Palm Springs horsewoman. Miss Arrol McKinney won second on her horse in the cowgirls' quarter mile horse race; and Miss Jane Lykken piloted her horse into third place in a close finish. Ten cowgirls and their fast horses competed in the race.

Miss Deborah Abbot, on her horse, finished second in the cowgirls' saddling race; and Miss Jane Lykken was third in this event.

The cowboy potato race, sponsored by Smoke Tree Stables, was won by Herb Melby of McDonald Stables with John Kissinger of McDonald Stables second; and, a cowgirl, Miss Pat Percival, third.

The cowboy bunion race, a most amusing event, in which the cowboys race on their horses to a rope, tie up their horses, and race on foot one hundred yards to the finish line, was won by John Kissinger of McDonald Stables. Herb Melby of Smoke Tree Stables finished second; and Jap Edmonds of Deep Well Guest Ranch Stables was third. This event was sponsored by Rogers Stables.

In the six professional harness races, Hollywood McKinney, a fast trotter, owned by T. Crawford, set a new Palm Springs Field Club record for the mile, going the distance in 2:12 4/5 in the second heat of the 2:10 trot.

Results of the harness races last Saturday were:

Mother of Five Grown Daughters Flies Plane

Returning from an air voyage to Mexico City and Yucatan, a standard Waco plane landed at the Palm Springs Airport, bringing back for another desert visit Mrs. Margaret Stower and her capable pilot, Lane Smith. The visit, however, was brief, for Mrs. Stower proceeded shortly thereafter for San Diego to visit members of her family at La Jolla.

It was in Palm Springs last season that Mrs. Stower, mother of five attractive daughters, was bitten by the air bug and decided to devote some of her leisure time to flying. Lane Smith, who drove her automobile for her, also held a pilot's license. He and the boys at the airport interested Mrs. Stower in flying and soon she was trying her hand at the stick. She purchased the Waco and after 20 hours and 15 minutes in the air, made her first solo flight, a remarkable achievement, considering Mrs. Stower has grown daughters. Since then aviation has absorbed a huge part of her time and interest.

On the Mexico trip she flew from Maine to Mexico City, taking one of her daughters with her, thence to Yucatan and back here. After LaJolla she and Lane, who divides the piloting work with her, will proceed back to Mexico City to bring back the daughter, dropped off there for a visit.

Mrs. Stower stayed here last season at the Deep Well Guest Ranch. She plans to return to Palm Springs later this season—as soon as her flying allows.

Olvera Puppeteers Here Monday

On Monday evening, January 11th the Famous Olvera Puppeteers will bring their smart representation "RAPSCALLION REVUE" to Earl Strebe's El Paseo Theater at Palm Springs. The Olvera Puppeteers are well known for the excellence of their work and their subtle burlesque of life with marionettes has delighted thousands from every walk of life who have visited their theater or have been present at a performance when the company is traveling. "RAPSCALLION REVUE" is a variety parade featuring Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Laurel & Hardy, Duke Ellington and his orchestra, Bill Robinson, the tap dancer, a Chinese fantasy, Madame Obligato, the prima donna on her fifth final farewell tour, and many others.

The Olvera Puppeteers are one of the few puppet companies in this country whose repertoire includes both juvenile and adult entertainment. Their "RAPSCALLION REVUE" is packed with satire and humor to such extent that the most sophisticated of audiences are the most ardent followers. On the other hand, this same company has delighted more juvenile audiences than any other company in the West. The versatility of the troupe is due to their well rounded background. This included two years in their famous Olvera Street Theater in Los Angeles where their nightly performances won them national recognition as smart entertainment, and five years at Bullock's Department Store where their performances of Mortimer Mouse, Dr. Timothy Turtle, and Baby Socrates drew a delighted audience of 1200 to 1500 children and their parents every Saturday from September to June.

Indian Reservation

wise. Even should the allotment question be decided in favor of the Indians who claim these pieces of property, the leases would still have to be approved by the Secretary of the Interior before they become valid, it was pointed out.

Thus every resident on the reservation, exclusive of members of the tribe, could be moved off immediately should the government so order. However, the government has no intention of taking such an action, Quackenbush said. In this respect, things will continue as they are.

The radical change which came with federal intervention was made without trouble of any significance. "Everything is working smoothly, and as soon as all the Indians realize what the government is doing and intends to do, all members of the tribe will be satisfied" said Mr. Quackenbush.

Mr. Quackenbush yesterday issued the following statement:

"At the time John W. Dady was appointed Supt. of the Mission Indian Agency, consisting of some thirty odd reservations in Southern California, inhabited by Mission Indians, he inaugurated the policy which permitted the Indians of these various reservations to handle and govern their own affairs. This was in accordance with the policy of John Collier, commissioner of Indian affairs. By administrative order, each reservation held an election, usually in December of each year, which was supervised by Mission Indian Agency officials, at which time an Indian committee was elected, also a spokesman or chairman.

"This arrangement worked very satisfactory at all of the reservations, with the exception of the Agua Caliente or Palm Springs reservation, because of the fact that the Palm Springs reservation, particularly three sections, which practically surround the Palm Springs resort, have become very valuable property due to the large amount of national publicity emanating from Palm Springs, also because of the hot sulphur springs and baths which many sojourners in the village find beneficial. The bath house and hot springs are located on a government reserve, in the reservation, immediately across from the heart of Palm Springs proper.

"Palm Canyon, which is rich in natural charm and scenic beauty containing stately palms of rare species, has become a veritable tourists' paradise. It has ample water furnished by mountain streams, spacious picnic grounds. The same is true of beautiful, but little known, Andreas Canyon, which is also available to residents and visitors.

"Each Indian committee elected, tried to turn to operate these resources for the benefit of the tribe. However, due to lack of executive ability, and constant friction between factions, they were not successful.

"During this period Palm Springs has been growing rapidly, its building program requiring a great number of laborers and their families, who are unable to find reasonable living quarters, except on the reservation. This proved a great source of revenue to a number of Indians, members of the Agua Caliente tribe, and also added to the complications of the committee in power at the time.

"Some two thousand persons other than Indians are now living on the reservation and paying rent to the Indians, many of these people having built their own homes.

"Committees, previous to the year 1936, were unable to cope with the situation successfully and at all times, at least, half of the Indians were dissatisfied and disgruntled with the handling of their affairs by the committee.

"The committee of 1936 was unfortunate enough to encumber itself with the advice and service of one or more white persons who for some time past have been making their living through setting the Indians against the government and convincing them that they were better fitted to manage their affairs than the Indian Bureau. These persons were so successful at Palm Springs during 1936 that little of the large sums of money collected by the Indian committee, from the various resources of the tribe, found its way to more than half of the tribe.

"A number of petitions signed by 14 or more of the adult members of the tribe, which consists of 30 adults and a number of minor children, were presented to the Indian office at Riverside, the last of which was directly responsible for the action taken by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, department of Interior, (John Collier) resulting in not permitting the Indians to hold an election, and placing the entire reservation under direct government supervision."

Mr. Quackenbush, law enforcement officer of the Indian Field Service, was appointed resident officer in charge and is located at the government headquarters, adjoining the hot springs bath house on the government reserve. Since taking over control at midnight Dec. 31, 1936, when the term of office of the last committee expired, Officer Quackenbush has employed a staff of Agua Caliente Indians consisting of a bath house attendant, Anthony Joseph Andreas and John Joseph Andreas, in charge of Palm Canyon entrance. Both descendants of the ancestor for whom Andreas Canyon was named. John Joseph Andreas is assisted by Francis Segundo.

At Andreas Canyon Roy Lugo is in charge, assisted by Joe Quati. Joe Welmas, U. S. Indian officer-at-large, assigned to the Agua Caliente reservation, is assisting Officer Quackenbush in administering the Indian tribal affairs.

The tribal committee had kept the roads leading to Palm and Andreas canyons in fairly good condition. However, just prior to the government taking charge, torrential rains had caused considerable damage. The roads were immediately repaired by emergency Indian workers, employed by Officer Quackenbush and will hereafter be kept in good condition by the Mission Indian Agency maintenance road crew, which has heretofore been unavailable because of tribal management.

Palm Canyon is open daily to visitors, at a charge of 25c per car, limit 5 passengers, a charge of 10c for each additional passenger; 15c for horseback riding and motorcycles, and 10c for pedestrians and bicycle riders.

Andreas Canyon is open to visitors on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. However picnic groups wishing to go to Andreas Canyon on other days may make arrangements at government headquarters.

All monies collected are being forwarded to the U. S. treasury and placed to the credit of the Agua Caliente tribe, and will be divided equally among all members of the tribe, periodically. It is the intention of the administration to improve and promote the various assets in a manner that will add appreciably to the present income.

SUNDAY CONCERT

The noted pianist virtuoso, Mme. Cherniavskaya-Bruman, will be presented to a Palm Springs audience by Danton O. Mandeville at the El Paseo Theatre Sunday afternoon, Jan. 10, at 3 o'clock.

This accomplished pianist has been accompanist for Lily Pons, grand opera and movie star. She will feature several solo numbers and will accompany Victor Donato, concert violinist in a program of world-famous selections, operatic gems and compositions of the moderns.

Paul Chotteau, graduate of the Paris Conservatory of Music, will be guest artist at the concert. Tickets are now on sale at the Shop of Charm in the Carnell Building.

FURNITURE SALE

If you need furniture, especially furniture for the desert, now is the time to buy it. Beginning Monday, the Palm Springs Furniture Co. will have a special clearance sale of furniture and radios. Turn to the ad in this issue and note the special bargains.

Model Home Attracts Many

The beautiful new Barker Bros. model home located in the R. R. Bush tract just east of the Colonial House, is attracting scores of visitors. Archie O. Palmer, who has the exclusive listing of this house, which is in the subdivision for which he has the agency, stated yesterday that several hundred people had looked at the place and were very much impressed with the arrangement and the new creations in furnishings by Barker Brothers.

There is considerable real estate activity in the vicinity of the Model Home, four large new houses being under construction now and three having recently been completed in the subdivision. Ten lots have been sold there by Mr. Palmer and his associates during the past month and a half.

Associates of Archie Palmer's office are ready to show the Model Home to visitors at any time, and a telephone call to his office will bring a car to any place in town.

The large new home is built to conform to the arc of the curved lot, and fits perfectly in the scenic landscape.

The Model Home, which has nine rooms, including three master bedrooms, a maid's room, three baths, and a servant's room, is very unique and yet decidedly practical.

Entering through a foyer, one can look through arches in every direction, into various parts of the house or the patio. Above the foyer is a suspended ceiling, which has so many radiuses that one cannot see the top, for the center of the ceiling seems to fade away into space. There are less than a thousand of these new type of ceilings in the nation.

The draperies are of especially designed hand blocked linen of desert patterns, with Venetian blinds in a coral shade to harmonize. A feature is the circular davenport of heavy tapestry, striped in deep yellow, brown and coral and fringed. At the entrance end of the living room is a console grand piano of pickled walnut finish. Another feature of this pleasant room is the card table set of antique white fabricoid. The furniture generally here is of the farm house type.

In the master bedroom, the farm house furnishings, in a special treatment, are effectively employed. This room is in an off-white color scheme with pink glaze. The draperies are of a rose tinted crash. There are chenille bedspreads, a large wardrobe closet and smart little dressing table. The bathroom is in a coral pink effect with square tub and glassed doors.

The second bedroom is in blue and white. Furniture is of walnut trimmer in blue. The same color is used in Venetian blinds and drapes. The bathroom lying between this and the third bedroom is of ivory and pale green.

In the third bedroom, the beds are of deep antique red with upholstered head boards. The furniture is of the French provincial type, picking up the colors of the deep toned draperies. The dresser and dressing table are finished in antique white with green trim while the carpet is a dark red broadloom.

The dining room is a charming combination of yellow and coral, the furniture done in the French provincial style. The furniture is finished in antique yellow with the chairs in coral fabric tying in with the coarse linen draperies which have a criss-crossed striping of coral and brown. The Venetian blinds are off-white with yellow tapes and the carpet in desert sand with an inlay of yellow.

Particularly attractive is the kitchen which is of white tile with black trim. The floor is solid linoleum with a white inlaid stripe around the border. The Venetian blinds are red and the draperies of white drill.

The maid's room or den has dark brown carpeting, walls of off-white, Venetian blinds of white with brown tape. The draperies are of heavy desert crash with rope edge. Furnishings include a studio couch in white, beige and brown and the furniture generally is of early American maple.

Additional features of this handsome model home is the large two-car garage, the spacious sun deck and the colorful patio on the west. The patio is triangular in shape with one side curving. At the end is a charming swimming pool in blue and white. The patio furniture is of white metal with blue and white fabricoid and vat-dyed duck.

WHY DO WE LIVE?

By Dr. Maurice Le Bell, D. C.

In these days of fast living, striving for material gain, rushing aimlessly. In these days of mental and spiritual conflict, impending wars, to be happy we have to be able to secure that happiness within ourselves.

The question is how to do this without being dependent on our friends and relatives for our joyous moods in life.

The answer seems to be two-fold, with the former the most important. First, obtain and absorb a philosophy of life that enables you to live above the troubles of the material life, yet be able to do your daily work fairly, and with competence and good judgment. Keep a spiritual and religious balance enabling you to develop yourself, leaving within a glow of happiness that radiates constantly. Secondly, maintain good health. No one fully values health and vitality until an illness with the accompanying pain prevents that person from carrying out their physical duties with ease. Everyone instinctively admires a man or woman who glows with health because that person inevitably radiates happiness.

Stop for a moment in your rush to fill the minutes of your day. Think, are you completely happy? If you are, I would like to meet you and add your philosophy of life to mine. If you're not, take time out to analyze yourself. Place your character under a microscope, and when the examination is

Get License Plates in Banning

Palm Springs automobile owners may get their license plates in Banning.

The State Motor Vehicle Department office there will be operated every day this month from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., with the exception of holidays and Sundays. Owners of vehicles may secure their licenses by presenting the postcard recently sent from the division of motor vehicles and the white slip of registration for 1936. Only cash, money orders or other such negotiable paper will be accepted. Personal checks cannot be received as payment for the plates.

The office is located in the city hall.

After three-days of illness Dr. Henry Hoagland, head of the Palm Springs Field Club and the Desert Riders, was back on his feet again and once more about his work last Monday.

Henry Fisher, Jr., of Pasadena, is convalescing from an illness. He is a guest at the Dr. Henry S. Reid Hospital.

Big Events At Field Club

Directors of the Palm Springs Field Club have decided to continue the Sunday afternoon harness races and gymkhanas throughout the season.

In addition to these, the foremost coming events at the Field Club are the Bull Fights on January 23-24, and the first Annual Palm Springs Round-up, a rodeo event, on February 6-7, followed by the fourth annual Desert Circus on March 10-11.

The club officials gave a final approval to the exciting Bull Fight program on January 23 and 24. An innovation for Palm Springs, this two-day session of thrills and laughs with bulls with blunder horns hoisting matadors and torredors in padded uniforms over the walls, trick riding, knife throwing and other colorful features, should find favor with the Palm Springs people.

Easy as it is, the Palm Springs Field Club launched on Monday its plans for the greatest Desert Circus in the history of the Village. Always the big event of the year, the Circus will be held this season on March 10 and 11, a month later than formerly.

Dr. Henry Hoagland, president of the Field Club, will make appointments of committee heads for the Circus, Monday, and on Tuesday will have an organization luncheon for them at the Desert Inn.

One of the reasons for holding this most festive and picturesque of Palm Springs celebrations later is that the Field Club will be in more perfect condition for its presentation. Certainly it will be more impressive with the green-grassed areas in full beauty and surrounding country at its peak of scenic loveliness.

Between the Bull Fights and the Desert Circus will come another new event which unquestionably will attain rank as one of the highlights of the year—the first annual Palm Springs Round-Up. It is scheduled for February 6 and 7 and its program is pretty well arranged already by Les Vance, of Deep Well Guest Ranch, who is acting for the Field Club, and Andy Jouraige, of Newhall, who is furnishing the broncos and steers.

NEW REAL ESTATE BROKER HAS OFFICE IN HANNAHS BLDG.

Z. V. Decker, a real estate broker of Huntington Park, opened his office this week in the Hannahs building, next to the new Vogle building. The office was formerly occupied by Mrs. Robert L. Edwards, and Mr. Decker succeeds the late Mr. Edwards in the real estate business here. Mr. Decker was formerly associated with the E. B. Travis real estate firm in Huntington Park. He will engage in a general real estate business here, including sales and rentals. Mrs. Kathleen Naef has charge of the insurance department of the office and the notarial work. She is also deputy county clerk registering voters here.

Mr. Decker is a brother of W. E. Decker, manager of the Indio Water Company, who is well known here.

Interesting Events Over Holidays at The Desert Inn

Many Eastern as well as California people chose the desert for their New Years holidays. The Desert Inn was filled with guests who picnicked, rode, golfed or played tennis. Many interesting trips were taken up in the snow.

On New Years Eve the guests enjoyed a splendid program. Russell Horton, well-known tenor, was master of ceremonies. Mr. Horton has appeared with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, soloist at the Hollywood Bowl, Redlands Bowl and Pasadena Playhouse.

Miss Mary Seiler, harpist; Schuyler Ladd, New York actor; Waldeen, the dancer, and Gunn, the magician, entertained the guests.

Miss Seiler, who has made several tours as assisting artist to such stars as Rosa Ponselle and Giovanni Martinelli, remained over for the week-end. Mr. Ladd presented his one-man program. He has won considerable recognition through his appearances on the stage with such stars as Otis Skinner, Sir Herbert Tree, Helen Hayes and many others.

Last Thursday at tea time a fortune teller entertained the ladies by telling their fortunes with tea leaves, by the cards, and by the means of palmistry.

On Tuesday evening Monte Montana, noted cowboy, demonstrated his many rope tricks in the Desert Inn lounge. Johnny Boyle and Dusty Adams entertained with western and cowboy songs.

On Monday Chuck Abbot, the cowboy host at the Desert Inn, took a large group to the sand dunes for a barbecued luncheon. A group of the younger crowd rose horseback while the others made the trip in cars.

Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. A. Vanderzee and their daughters, Virginia and Joan, of Grosse Point Park, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hyde and their daughters, Patricia, Barbara and Constance and R. W. Kinney of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Hart Mitchell and sons, Hart Jr. and Charles; Miss Martha Ann Henderson of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. R. S. Cromie and children, Grace and Peter, of Vancouver, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Lisbon, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. DeGraff, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T. Baisley and many others.

F. M. Cropper of the Cities Service Company, with headquarters in New York, spent his winter vacation with his mother, Mrs. L. W. Cropper of San Francisco at the Desert Inn.

Miss Lucy Zach flew from her home in Philadelphia to Los Angeles and then to Palm Springs for the holidays at the Inn.

Among other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gurley and daughter, Barbara; Miss Patricia Maganis, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel V. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. S. Belither and Mr. and Mrs. George J. O'Brien, all of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindsley and daughter, Miss Ruth Carr; Mrs. Harwood Huntington and Miss Grace, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bashem, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fischer, Mrs. James Cagney and Miss Nina Penn Williams, all of Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Sabin and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Manchester, Mrs. J. D. Palmer, Mrs. K. A. Johnstone and Miss A. M. Horne of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Byerly of Portland, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Lawrence of Rimrock, Arizona; Wm. Barnes and mother, Mrs. J. L. Barnes of St. Paul, Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grabner of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Johnson of Portland, Oregon, and many others.

Seen lunching at the Desert Inn on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Scott and Cary Grant, with the beautiful blonde "Bobby" Molineux Cooper.

Eddie Cantor came down for a few days' more rest at the Inn and Mrs. Cantor drove down to spend New Years with him.

Seen last week on a combined business trip and social visit was Mrs. Regis Toomey. She was a guest of the Burton Fiskes at El Mirador. Mrs. Toomey, who has a fine linen shop in Hollywood, is arranging to display her lovely linens in Palm Springs. Her husband, Regis Toomey, is in New York working in a most successful play and will return as soon as the play has had its run.

Two Indian youths were found injured in their coupe off the highway a mile north of Palm Springs Saturday. According to the report of Police Officers Downs and Abbott, from indications the boys got drunk and their car left the highway, clipping off a telephone pole enroute. A jug of wine was found in the car. A passing motorist noticed them and reported to police. The pair Johnny Martin, Jr., and Domingo Norte, were taken to the Reid Clinic and Hospital. Police reported one of them was quite seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving T. Synder came here from Coronado in search of a building site on which to erect a desert home. Guided by Mrs. Katherine Pollak, of Raymond Cree's office, they located a lot in Las Palmas Estates.

$731 Donated For Church Organ

Of interest to the entire community is progress being made toward installation of a suitable organ in the Community church. While no urgent campaign has been waged as yet, the organ fund has received up to date $731.

The time is now ripe for many individuals to come forward with large contributions toward this object.

A small but suitable pipe organ will cost approximately $2000. It is desired that it might be installed so that those enjoying the services of the church might have the benefit of this addition to the uplift of the services.

A pint bottle of pennies was handed to the pastor. The Sunday school of the church, as well as the adults in the congregation were invited to guess the number of pennies the bottle contained. Many did so. It was then placed on exhibition in the Desert Garden Date Shop, where additional guesses were made. The promised award was a box of dates by Mrs. Wroughton of the Date Shop.

The pennies were counted last Saturday and, believe it or not, ten of the children and young people of the church and Sunday school had guessed the exact number (600).

Perplexed as to how to award the winners, Dr. Macartney put it up to the school. One little fellow piped up, "Give us Bibles."

On the spot the pastor instantly agreed to do so.

The names of the successful contestants are: Wilma Joann Tuttle-Towner, Verden Sullivan, Donald Williams, Helen Louise Williams, Shirley Blackman, Mimi McAdoo, Patricia Ann Fowler, Betty Ann Ware, Terry Sylvaasen. Bibles for these have been ordered and will be presented at an early date.

The question of who would gain the first ranking position in the 1936 women's tennis standings was answered this week when the ranking committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association named Miss Alice Marble in the top spot over Helen Jacobs. Miss Marble, who conditioned here in Palm Springs last winter and spring for her remarkable comeback after being away from the net game for two years, should be a popular "queen," although there are many people that begrudge her the number one position. Many tennis critics think that all-around play and previous record of Helen Jacobs should entitle her to the crown again, although beaten in the nationals by Alice. The ranking of the first ten men and women tennis players for 1936 is as follows:

Women: 1, Alice Marble; 2, Helen Jacobs; 3, Sarah Palfrey Fabry; 4, Gracyn Wheeler; 5, Caroline Babcock; 6, Helen Pedersen; 7, Midge Gladman Van Ryn; 8, Dor-Midge Gladman Van Ryn; 9, Dorothy Bundy; 10, Katherine Winthrop; 11, Mary Grief Harris. Men: 1, Don Budge; 2, Frank Parker; 3, "Betsy" Grant; 4, Robert Riggs; 5, Gregory Mangin; 6, John Van Ryn; 7, John McDiarmid; 8, Charles Harris; 9, Joseph Hunt; 10, Arthur Hendrix.

See where Joe DiMaggio, the sensational Yankee rookie, is going to hold out for $20,000. It doesn't take 'em long to get wise any more. Joe was a sensation last year at the plate and is certainly worth an increase over his first year's stipend, but we won't be surprised to see him put it on the dotted line for $15,000 or even less.

Los Angeles Evening Herald and Express is keeping tab on the turf "experts" this year to see which one will have the best record for the meeting in selecting winners, etc. Four selectors from the Herald-Express, two from the Daily News, two from the Evening News, two from the Times and two from the Examiner are the entries. After seven days of racing a recapitulation showed that Jack McDonald of the Herald-Express was on the top with winners, having picked eighteen nags that were able to shove their nose under the wire first. However, a $2.00 pasteboard on each of McDonald's first choice in each of the eight races during the seven days would have netted him a total loss of 40 cents. A couple of the selectors have been luckier, having picked less winners, but getting better odds on the ones they did have and showing profits of from five to forty dollars. It is our guess that Martha of the Daily News, only feminine railbird in the running, will outguess most of the men and wind up in the first division.

At the end of the racing meet at Santa Anita it will certainly be a wonder if any of the aforementioned handicappers have over one hundred winners selected out of the season's total of 424 races. One hundred and six winners would be an average of 25 per cent, and I doubt if even one of them will come within six of that number. And when the mythical $2.00 bets are figured out the "experts" will be plenty glad they are only mythical bets. Of the last sentence we would bet our baby's last shoe that we are right.

Although the weather of the last few weeks hasn't been of the type that would make any of the less hardy folks of the village want to get into the swim, we should soon have some of that balmy climate that Palm Springs is so justly proud of. When that time comes it would do any would-be narrators well to consult a local lad who has a new idea in teaching swimming. Bruce Denham, instructor and guard at the pool of one of the down-town hostleries is the fellow to see. His new system which is a deep dark secret, available only to his students, threatens to revolutionize swimming lessons and swimming courses throughout the country.

In the Los Angeles Open golf tournament which starts today keep your eye on Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, and that grand not so old man of the links, McDonald Smith, who is a good bet to cop the Los Angeles open any time he approaches the first tee. Having taken home the marbles in 1929, 1932 and 1934 he should be about ready again if his recent illness hasn't caused him to lose his touch. Palm Springs can look forward to the appearance of some of these stellar golfers again this winter as they usually manage to appear in exhibitions at the Desert Golf Course and to soak up a little of the warm sunshine of the desert area.

Don't be surprised to see Mrs. James B. Oliver, driving Star Bright, cross the finish line first in the Ladies' Amateur Drivers' Sulky Race Sunday at the Field Club. Another excellent program has been lined up to please villagers and visitors.

A talk today with that versatile man, Paul Chotteau, revealed his next feat of daring. Chotteau, you know, is the fellow that in his sixth attempt to swim from Catalina Island to Santa Monica, succeeded and turned the tables on his host of scoffers and doubters who claimed it was impossible to do this. He spent a total of twenty-eight months training and making his various attempts. He is now in Palm Springs resting and preparing to make an attempt to swim the Salton Sea. Chotteau gives one the impression of a caged lion when being interviewed. His energy and force is easily apparent when one sees him pacing the floor as he talks. A man with the stamina to conquer a stretch of water like the Santa Catalina channel, must find it hard to use up his energy in a sleepy little village like ours. Incidentally, Mr. Chotteau is an accomplished violinist and will appear in the concert to be given on Sunday, January 10, at the El Paseo Theatre.

It is our personal hunch that Manatella will be the winner in the $3500 added Santa Susanna Handicap at Santa Anita Park, Saturday, January 9.

Miss Helen Macartney has returned and resumed her teaching duties in the Long Beach public schools music department.

Social Executives To Be Guests Of Pinney

On Sunday, January 10, there will be a meeting of the California Social Executives Association of Southern California. The thirty members and their families will be the guests of Warren Pinney at El Mirador Hotel over the week-end.

The program will be under the supervision of Miss Dovey Golden Coley, El Mirador's social director. A business meeting will be held on Monday and a luncheon will close the meeting.

Firemen's Ball Saturday Night January 16

The Fourth Annual Ball of the Palm Springs Fire Department will be held Saturday evening, January 16, in the grammar school auditorium with music by the eight-piece Hollywood Collegiate orchestra and a lot of interesting frills in the way of fun and entertainment.

In charge of the event for this season are Bill Leonesio, Kenneth Guild and Bob Haynes.

Ted Griffith is chief of the local department. Proceeds of the dance go for the purchase of needed equipment such as a resuscitator, coats, helmets and pikepoles, hose cart and other articles which are used for various other purposes in connection with maintenance of the department.

Hidden Palms Canyon Is Explored

(By Randall Henderson in Calexico Chronicle)

Recently I accompanied members of the Sierra club on a week-end trip to a desert canyon which had more than usual fascination for the reason that it is seldom visited by sight-seeing motorists.

We left Highway 99 at Edom in the upper end of Coachella valley and followed the Thousand Palms canyon road back into the Indio Mud hills. Those hills do not offer much attraction from the highway, but they are a never-ending source of interest and wonder to the hiker who penetrates the many canyons which thread through them.

On this trip we left the Thousand Palms road before reaching the hills and turned toward the east over a little traveled but passable trail used mainly by the two or three homesteaders who have claims in that area. Eventually the road turns back into one of the arroyos and the motorist sees a fringe of native palms in the background.

In a little cove to the left of the road a thick cluster of tonias, hidden back in a cove, suddenly comes into view. This is Hidden Palms and has no special attraction except the surprise of seeing the trees unexpectedly.

The road follows the arroyo and finally ends on the top of a bluff overlooking a miniature Grand Canyon eroded in hills of clay. A tiny stream flows along the bottom of the wide sandy wash.

The law of gravity makes it an easy matter to hike down to the bottom of the picturesque canyon—the climb back is not so simple, but involves no special hazard. The canyon twists and turns back into the hills with healthy palm trees growing in little clumps along the way.

About three-quarters of a mile from the end of the road is the source of the stream, a spring of good water surrounded by a jungle of palms which make an ideal picnic ground. The gorge extends on through the hills, but the vegetation ends at the spring. The rest of the way it is a bare, sandy wash.

The little oasis at the spring is well worth the hike, and nearby are the ruins of an old stamp mill, evidently erected here because of the water supply. The ore supply evidently played out soon after the mill was started, and it has been rusting away in recent years.

If you have extra time, you can return to the Thousand Palms road and continue on over the divide to the canyon from which the road derives its name. From this point it is possible to continue north to the Metropolitan aqueduct road and thence east and back into Highway 99 near Coachella, making a complete loop trip. A large part of the area you will have covered on this trip lies within the boundaries of the new Joshua Tree National Monument. The side trip to Pushwalla is rocky, but not difficult to travel at this season of the year when the sand is damp and well packed.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Semi-annual communion services will be conducted on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Sacrament," and the Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies."

The Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from Luke: "Now the feast of unleavened bread drew nigh, which is called the Passover. . . . And when the hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve apostles with him. . . . And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among yourselves: . . . And he took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, are the following: "Their bread indeed came down from heaven. It was the great truth of spiritual being, healing the sick and casting out error. Their Master had explained it all before, and now this bread was feeding and sustaining them."

WPA Conference For Delegates Two Counties

Palm Springs civic organizations, county supervisors, mayors, councilmen and leaders of civic character-building agencies, such as Parent-Teachers' Associations, Women's Club, Y.W.C.A., Boy Scouts, Y.M.C.A., Girl Scouts and church groups of 2 counties are invited to attend a mass meeting of all agencies in Riverside and San Bernardino counties interested in the new $158,000 district WPA recreation project. This program will be held January 11 in the Municipal Auditorium in San Bernardino, according to an announcement made today by U. L. Voris, acting supervisor of the extensive project.

U. L. Voris, acting supervisor of this greatly enlarged recreation program further stated in his announcement that he fully realized that each city and community has its individual problems and that the leaders of various civic betterment groups in these cities and communities should know best the scope and type of recreation program suited to their needs individually, hence the reason for the forthcoming meeting.

Recommendations as to community needs are being requested by Ralph B. Smith, district director, and Mr. Voris from organized and representative groups such as county boards of supervisors, mayors, city councils, peace officers groups, boards of education, Parent-Teachers' Associations, Women's Clubs, Professional and Service Clubs, chambers of commerce, churches, boys and girls' clubs and others directly interested in civic betterment through improved use of leisure time and social recreation. It is believed that through cooperation between these organizations and the Works Progress Administration, that juvenile delinquency, crime and other problems can be greatly reduced and the health and happiness of the communities bettered.

Any community may participate in this program through the functions of a local recreation committee or commission. Some of these committees have already been formed and others are in the progress of formation. The above mentioned groups should have representation either through an advisory group or direct representation on the local committee. Full extent of the new program will depend upon the interest shown in the various communities, it was further stated by Mr. Voris.

It is expected that several hundred representative civic leaders of Riverside and San Bernardino county cities and communities will be in attendance when the mass meeting opens at 7:30 p. m. A complete and interesting discussion of the new WPA recreation program will be presented to those attending, giving a full and comprehensive survey of the ideals and aims behind the project.

Dr. Kenyon K. Scudder, chief of the Los Angeles probation office, will head a group of prominent speakers who will address the conference, it was announced by Supervisor Voris.

The speaking portion of the program will end about 10 p. m. and will be followed by dancing and other forms of entertainment until 11:30 p. m. Mr. Voris stated. The above announcement has been issued through the medium of the press as a public invitation to such civic betterment organizations as are interested in the new program.

Bill McHaney of The Old West Goes Out Yonder

A "desert rat" of the old school went out on the long "prospecting" trip with the sudden death of Bill McHaney at the Bill Keys place near 29 Palms during the past week. McHaney was up and about, and suddenly was seized with an attack of pneumonia from which he died a few hours later.

McHaney, who was 77 years old, went into the local desert when there were few white folk living there. He and his brother Jim were picturesque desert characters. They prospected and mined in the days of the pack burro and grub stake. Bill McHaney settled in the local desert in the 80's, it is believed. He seldom went "outside" to San Bernardino or other places. To him the roar of railroad trains and buzzing of motor cars was not music.

It is said that Bill McHaney discovered the claim on which the Desert Queen mine was developed. He is also credited with having discovered the Lost Horse mine, although the latter discovery was claimed by the late Johnny Lang, who died some years ago. Lang had lost a horse and in searching for the animal in a lonely canyon, near Quail Springs, found ore which produced quantities of gold for some years. He called it the Lost Horse.

These men were picturesque men of the frontier. They were always sure there was "gold in them thar hills." And now that they are gone, perhaps they found real gold in a fuller life 'way out yonder in the vale of eternity.

NATIONAL IDEALS PRESERVE DEMOCRACY

The nation has come to the end of an eventful year. For the first time since the worst days of depression, industry has felt the stimuli of better times, of broadening markets, of increased earnings. Prospects for the future are immeasurably brightened.

Yet we must not be blind to the vital problems that all of us as individuals and as members of the economic and social order, still face.

The depression, for example, caused a great increase in the burden of taxation and, more serious still, an unprecedented rise in the public debt. The time for debating the wisdom of emergency spending has passed, and the time for balancing our books has come. No less a figure than the President has said that it should soon be possible to meet out-go with income, so far as the Federal government is concerned, and in achieving that he will have the wholehearted assistance of all responsible elements in our national life. Furthermore, once the budget is balanced, we must apply ourselves rigorously to reducing the debt and thus eventually decrease the tax load. Such a program would give the strongest possible spur to the recovery movement.

The problem of unemployment looms almost as large today as it did at the abysmal low point. Industry has pledged itself to do all within its power to curb this intolerable condition, and in doing that it must have the help of government, to the extent that no legislation be passed which will frighten and discourage the investor—the source of all productive employment.

Certain specific industries, in spite of the progress they have made, are confronted with the gravest difficulties. The utility industry is a case in point. It has enjoyed a vast increase in power consumption—yet this has been largely offset by artificial depressants, of which the principal one is the constant threat of subsidized competition both from Federal hydro-electric plants, and Federally-backed municipal plants. It is encouraging to report, however, that negotiations are now under way to eliminate glaring inequalities.

Our largest single industry, the railroads, has felt the stimuli of recovery in material increases in freight and passenger traffic. But this industry, like the utilities, is hamstrung unless a salutary change in public policy is made. The railroads pay their own way, and are rigidly regulated in every phase of operation. Other carriers, to the contrary, are unregulated or half-regulated, and some are directly subsidized from the public treasury. Furthermore, there is the threat of new laws—unsound in principle and unjustified in practice—that would in one way or another increase railroad operating costs at a time when the lines are supplanting deficits with modest profits, without providing means for the railroads to better their revenue in order to meet the bill.

In the field of merchandising—a field which is intimately connected with the welfare of every individual—there is the threat of laws that would penalize the efficient in the interest of the inefficient, at the expense of the consuming public.

So it goes, down the roster of industries. Other businesses—insurance, mining, oil, manufacturing, etc.—are sharing in the recovery movement, but almost all of them are faced with serious man-made problems. These problems are also the people's problems—on them depends employment, investment, progress of all kinds, and security for the individual. It is to the solution of these problems that we must all devote our attention.

In conclusion, it would be well for us all, on the threshold of the new year, to look abroad at dictator-ridden Europe. In many great countries the free press has been abolished. Free speech has become a crime. All criticism of those in power has been silenced with imprisonment and death. In some countries the right to worship has been abrogated by law, the state has been made Divine, the dictator in power must be regarded as a god, and the individual has been reduced to an actual state of slavery.

While we pity the citizens of those nations, and wonder that such things could have come to pass in this century, we can learn an invaluable lesson from their plight. We still live under a Constitution that guarantees us freedom of religion, freedom of speech and freedom of the press. Upon the preservation of that Constitution and the liberties it guarantees depends the future of the United States and the American people. In the pursuit of an economic millennium we

IMPERIAL VALLEY CROPS DAMAGED BY HEAVY FROST OVER WEEK-END

Damage which may run to more than three quarters of a million dollars was done by the week-end frost which was general throughout the Imperial valley.

B. A. Harrigan, county agricultural commissioner, states that the full extent of the frost damage could not be estimated. However, he reported that almost the entire squash crop in the valley has been completely ruined, and that the tomato crop in every part of the valley except the Niland area had apparently been wiped out. A survey of damage in the Niland area is now being made, and upon its completion it may be learned that the total damage approximated $900,000.

Drive Against Gambling In County

That a concerted drive against gambling and gambling devices in both the municipalities and the unincorporated areas of Riverside county is to be waged, is the reported outcome of a meeting of all chiefs of police, with Sheriff Carl Rayburn and District Attorney Earl Redwine in the office of the district attorney at the county court house last Friday.

"Each of the police chiefs from the cities of this county and from the Palm Springs Police Protection district agreed at the meeting, which I called, to wipe out gambling devices of an illegal nature in their respective jurisdiction," said District Attorney Redwine at Riverside.

"At this session Sheriff Rayburn assured the city officers that he would expect them to handle the situations in their own communities, but that if they did not do so he would be compelled to take action through his own office," Mr. Redwine said.

Complaints were given at a recent meeting to the board of supervisors that in Beaumont and Banning it was hard for the banks to supply sufficient nickels for the public to play the machines demanding such coins. As a result, orders were issued by the chiefs of police and councilmen of the two San Geronio Pass cities, abolishing the gambling equipment.

The district attorney, in a meeting Monday of the county solons, outlined for them a statement recently made by Attorney General U. S. Webb at a meeting called by the latter in San Francisco and attended by the Riverside district attorney and sheriff with representatives from all the other counties of California. In this, the attorney general stated specifically that it was not the duty of the district attorney's office to exercise police powers in the combatting of gambling, but that police and sheriffs are vested with that duty and authority. The district attorneys are expected to prosecute cases as called upon following possible arrests.

Smoke Trees Removed From Channel

Investigation of a report current last week that 20 acres of smoke trees had been removed from the Indian reservation south of Araby, disclosed that about five acres of the desert growth had been taken from the river wash in order to clear the channel, and that the brush was used for the fill between the dike and steel fence comprising the Smoke Tree-Araby flood control project.

Charles F. Doyle, manager of Smoke Tree Ranch, and who has charge of the flood control project, stated this week that the smoke trees were taken from the river channel, not only to obtain the brush, but to protect other properties south and east of Smoke Tree Ranch.

"I would be the last person on earth to have a part in 'devastating' the desert," said Mr. Doyle, "and for that reason I believe everything possible should be done to keep flood waters in the natural channel, by removing all obstructions, such as smoke trees, willows, and brush from that channel. I am still convinced the job we started on the reservation should be completed, and I believe the Indian department will take care of it when the officials look over the ground."

"The dikes positively were not taxed to capacity," he said, "but simply as a matter of precaution, fearing a repetition of the 1927 storm, the worst in Palm Springs' history, we fortified the uncompleted dikes," he said.

Smoke Tree Ranch and Araby interests have jointly constructed the most approved type of dikes to keep floodwaters in the natural channel. A straight channel, 250 feet wide, has been cleared of all brush and other obstructions between Smoke Tree Ranch and Araby. Dikes, eight feet high, eight feet wide at the top and sixteen feet wide at the base, have been thrown up on both sides of this channel for a distance of a mile and a half.

Between these dikes and the river channel a heavy woven steel wire fence has been put in, and the space between the dike and the fence is being filled in with brush and boulders. Railroad iron piles, driven six feet into the ground and spaced eight feet apart, are used as posts for the fence. The steel wire itself is put down three feet below the channel surface, and the posts and wire form a fence six feet high, all bound together with a heavy steel cable on top, which is also anchored securely in the ground at short intervals. Thus a solid dike about sixteen feet wide at the top will be formed.

The best engineering practices have proven that a dike lined with such a fence and filled in with brush and boulders will withstand any floods and will not wash out under any circumstances. In fact, competent engineers have stated that the new dike and channel will carry three times the greatest recorded flood flow that ever occurred in the wash, according to all government records, including the high water of 1927. Thus, it is said, there can never be a flood in the Smoke Tree Ranch-Araby area unless old Father Noah wants a repetition of the deluge of his day so that he might set another ark on the top of one of the nearby mountains.

Mr. Doyle was very much perturbed over the apprehension of villagers, and said he would welcome an investigation by anyone, and would be pleased to show any group that the work done by his employees safeguarded other lands as well as Smoke Tree and Araby.

All of the guest rooms in the lodge of the Palm Springs Hotel have just been laid with new Klearfax carpets and rugs, greatly improving the appearance of these guest rooms, all work of laying being done by J. G. Nera and Son.

"King of Kings" At Community Church 2 Nights

On Saturday and Sunday, January 16 and 17, the Community church presents the great sound picture "King of Kings" at 7:30 p. m.

This picture has been purchased by the National Film Educational Foundation of New York to combat atheistic tendencies in the United States, and is being shown in all the leading churches of the land.

Those having seen it once will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to witness the thrilling spectacle again.

No charge at the door. A silver and paper offering will be taken to assist in defraying the local expenses.

Community Church

Sunday's program will be as follows:

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school. Classes for children, youth and adults.

11 a. m.—Public worship and sermon by Dr. Macartney.

A series of sermons on "Single Words of the Bible" is attracting a large and interested congregation.

Sunday morning, continuation of the sermon on "The Way."

6:45 p. m.—Young people's meeting. George Hall, president; W. R. Trout, leader. A special address to the young people of Palm Springs will be given by Mrs. Helen Johnston, a widely known and inspiring worker among the youth of California.

Bible class for the entire community meets every Friday at 3 o'clock.

TAHQUITZ VISTA

Among the New Years guests at Tahquitz Vista were several honeymoon couples. Mr. Louis Brownstein brought his charming bride and with them were a host of San Francisco people. Several parties were given in their honor, and the bride liked Palm Springs so well that she positively promised to return after their extended Eastern trip. Among the San Francisco crowd were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Cohn, Mr. and Mrs. Schmolowitz, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Z. Green of San Mateo, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Anderson of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Friedlander of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ellison and daughter, Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hyde and family, San Mateo; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Froelich, San Francisco; Willie A. Manuel Opens Branch Office in Palm Springs

Manuel The Tailor, pioneer cleaner and presser of the San Geronio Pass, opened his Palm Springs branch in the new Colburn building early this week.

Manuel has served Palm Springs for the past 10 years from his Banning plant, but deliveries are now being made from the Palm Springs branch, at the corner of Andreas Road and Indian avenue, opposite the Southern Sierras Power Company office. His telephone number is 6464. A phone call will bring a driver to any home or apartment in Palm Springs or vicinity.

Manuel has long specialized in cleaning fine and delicate fabrics, and has a very modern and complete plant to take care of this type of cleaning.

"THE WOMAN I LOVE"

(By Oliver Antrim)

The King's Business, these last hectic weeks, has been everybody's business.

The saying must be true, that "all the world loves a lover." Now take a royal one, put a throne in the balance against a heart, and you have the love story supreme. In the world of romantic fiction there seems to be no greater plot. Anthony Hope took a fair-haired Englishman, set him on a distant throne, and wove a web of love around him that has charmed three generations of readers. Shakespeare liked to deal with sceptres and hearts. So did Haggard, and even Kipling, at times. The very bones of those English romancers might thrill over the affair of England's latest prince.

Edward's business has a further meaning for us Westerners. We see an age-old institution show signs of crumbling at one touch of nature. Plain, stark love shakes the proud castle of Hegdom. If this can happen, anything can happen. If the outer walls of royalty cannot withstand the pull of a woman's arms, what is in store for the whole king's fortress?

In this affair we may even find a vindication of democracy. We have had our nation's chiefs get tangled in Cupid's snare, and nothing came of it more serious than some cross currents of applause and censure. More than one designing woman has made the attempt, but none has been able to mar the even tenor of our executive program. Our leaders fall in love at their pleasure and nobody asks whether their passion bears a coat of arms. We may, some of us, ape the nobility in our formal moments, but we make love like commoners. Who knows, that might be the acid test of democracy.

The King may not have made as great a sacrifice as we think. Perhaps he didn't like his job; but he did smash all the kingly precedents by taking the whole world frankly into his confidence about the woman he loves. There's a man! And in a little while, so we hope, this man will come to his paradise. He will close the gates behind him, shutting out the tumult and the shouting. Shutting it all out save the goodwill of his friends everywhere, he can look into the eyes of his woman and whisper, "Oh my sweet." That, for Edward Windsor, will be the great event—greater by far than a coronation.

Horse Races

Field Club Sunday is the gentlemen drivers sulky race. Palm Springs men who will drive in this race are: Messrs. H. I. Sparey, George Roberson, Alvah Hicks, Earl Coffman and S. J. Buckingham.

Gymkhana events are always popular with Palm Springs villagers and vacationists and between races next Sunday will be staged the following gymkhana contests: Cowboy umbrella race sponsored by McDonald Stables; musical chairs on horseback, sponsored by Rogers Stables; elimination horse jumps, sponsored by Araby-Palm Springs Stables; and cowboy boot race sponsored by Deep Well Guest Ranch Stables.

Among the local riders who will compete in the elimination jumps with their horses are: Helen Murphy on Lucky, Bobby Patterson on Buddy, Paul Bruegemann on Lady, and Miss Jean Moore riding her favorite jumping horse, as well as other leading equestrians and horses here.

Advance ticket sales indicate a record turnout at the Field Club Sunday afternoon. The first race will start at 1:30 p. m. Box seat tickets for the event are now on sale at the Palm Springs Drug Co., the Desert Inn and El Mirador.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Byersley spent the New Year holidays at the Desert Inn. On Saturday evening they entertained with a dinner at Carl's Rendezvous.

"PAT" PATTERSON'S FATHER ANSWERS LAST SUMMONS

H. E. (Pat) Patterson received the sad news Wednesday morning of the death of his father, J. A. Patterson, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. "Pat" Patterson had just returned from Pittsburgh the night before where he had gone to visit his aged father who was seriously ill, consequently it was a severe shock to learn of the death soon after he reached home. The deceased was 81 years of age, and followed his wife in death by about a year. Burial will be in Pittsburgh. The aged man visited here with his son last season, and made a host of friends while here.

Mr. Patterson, Jr., was away from Palm Springs 10 days. He stated that the weather was terrible in Pittsburgh, because of freezing temperature and lots of snow. Although the weather seemed cold to the natives around here on Wednesday, Mr. Patterson stated, "Gee, this warmth and sunshine feels good after returning from the East."

Chamber Meet

changed its opinion since it protested against buses on the main street, which resulted in the franchise prohibiting the bus line from operating on Palm Canyon Drive.

Protest Bus Depot

The discussion led to a protest against the Greyhound buses stopping on Palm Canyon Drive, and the secretary was instructed to write the Pacific Greyhound Lines and the Railroad Commission asking that a bus depot be established somewhere here so that the buses would not have to stop on Palm Canyon Drive or Indian avenue.

Bicycles on Sidewalks

Secretary Shannon reported that protests had been filed with the Chamber of Commerce against bicycle riding and bicycles parked on the sidewalks. Several of those present stated that bicycle riding on the sidewalks had become a menace to pedestrians, and should be stopped. It was stated the state highway department would put a stop to the nuisance if requested by the Chamber of Commerce, whereupon the directors voted to take bicycles and bicycle stands off the sidewalks. One man suggested that the bicycles would constitute a worse hazard on the main street because of careless riders and automobile speeders.

Doesn't Like Trucks

Robert Parker stated that early morning gravel trucks operating on Palm Canyon Drive made as much noise as railroad trains, and consequently awakened hotel and apartment house guests in the wee small hours of the morning. He asked that the truck operators be requested to keep their trucks off the road at least until a later hour. Mrs. Priscilla Chaffey stated that diesel engine trucks en route between Indio and Banning were now coming through Palm Springs at night.

Street Signs

Two hundred and eleven new signs are needed to property mark all streets at intersections, reported Stanley Rosin, who had been appointed a committee of one to investigate the signs. He said that the Desert Forge will build the signs at $6.75 each, in lots of 50, and will install them at that price. To recondition all the signs now standing or torn down, would cost $49, he said. This amount was appropriated and he was instructed to have them repaired. The Desert Forge will do the work.

High School

Secretary Shannon threw a bombshell in the meeting when he announced that at a meeting of the high school board two weeks ago Architect G. Stanley Wilson asked for changes in the school plans because funds were not sufficient to build the school as originally planned. He stated that the first recommendation was to cut the cafeteria, the second was to cut the athletic field, and the third to cut the tile roof, all from the Palm Springs school. He asked members of the Chamber of Commerce to attend the high school meeting with him Wednesday evening. Thomas Lipps stated that he had favored the bond issue for the high school, but if the Banning Union high school board was to use such methods he would favor asking that P.W.A. assistance be stopped and that Palm Springs protest the sale of the school bonds. A number declared they would attend the meeting. Mr. Shannon said that in 1937 Palm Springs will pay 65 per cent of the taxes of the high school district, whereas Banning will pay only 23 per cent; in 1936 the ratio was 58 and 28 per cent, and in 1935 42 and 21 per cent, thus showing that Palm Springs' proportion is increasing annually. He said that the high school board had taken the insurance away from Palm Springs insurance brokers and given it to Banning agents. He said the reason for this given by the chairman of the board was "that Banning has the most votes."

Wagon Wheel, Sportland

Thomas Lipps stated he had called a meeting of the proprietors of the Wagon Wheel and Sportland and lessors of the property occupied by these establishments, and all had agreed to move the games to some other location into a zone satisfactory to the Chamber of Commerce, providing all of such establishments would do otherwise and were kept together. "You can have zoning in 60 days if you want it," said Mr. Lipps, "and now is the logical time to do it, for the petitions are all prepared and we are ready to go." He announced that he had purchased The Barn, night club north of town, and that these establishments could move out to his place. Several thought it would be useless to ask the establishments to move unless they could be given the assurance that others of a similar nature would not replace them in the same locations.

43 New Members
Stanley Rosin reported that 43 new

resisting roof is not as essential in Banning as in Palm Springs. It was also said that both wings of the new Banning school are to be reduced in size by omitting rooms, and there is no provision for construction of an athletic field in the Banning plans.

It was stated that the plans submitted to P.W.A. and state school officials for approval had never included a cafeteria for either school, due to lack of available funds. However, when Palm Springs people suggested Wednesday evening that a cafeteria in the Palm Springs school is imperative because all of the students must travel considerable distance, the school is more than a mile from the center of town, it was said that the domestic science room and kitchen could be used for a cafeteria during inclement weather, and at other times the students would probably prefer eating out of doors. Mr. Beam and the architects thought it was a matter that could be worked out satisfactorily to the people of Palm Springs.

Those present did not seem to think that omission of the work shop would be serious when Mr. Beam explained that very few Palm Springs students took the shop course at present, and he believed that not more than 10 students would want to take the course in Palm Springs when the new school is completed. As long as a reduction of $10,000 had to be made somewhere locally in order to keep within the cost, it was thought that amount, which is also the estimated cost of the new shop building, could best be saved by eliminating a building that would serve only a very few students.

The Palm Springs delegation attended the meeting at the request of Chamber of Commerce officials Tuesday evening when it was reported that the tile roof, athletic field and cafeteria were to be cut from the Palm Springs school because of excessive cost. The Chamber of Commerce members present were Frank V. Shannon, also a member of the high school board; Mrs. Priscilla Chaffey, Mrs. Culver Nichols, John W. Williams, Chuck Morrison, Raymond Cree and Carl Barkow.

The school board was busy for some time opening and reading bids for a well and pumping plant for the Palm Springs high school site.

American Airways will also widen the runways to the original 500 feet. All of the improvements will be made as soon as federal approval is received.

Palm Springs airport is now classified as being on Federal airways and for that reason it is important enough to become an emergency field, said Gus Parrish, lessee of the airport. After the transcontinental airline has obtained rights to use the local field and improvements have been completed, it is believed it will be only a matter of a short time that Easterners may buy tickets direct to Palm Springs and thus get off the plane at Palm Springs, instead of going on through to Los Angeles and flying back here on a local plane.

American airliners fly over the local field at about 5:15, 7:30, and midnight, daily, and for this reason the lights will be on until at least midnight, nightly.

The Flagship Arizona, a twin-motored Douglas sleeper, en route from the East to Los Angeles, landed on the local field Tuesday afternoon, due to storm conditions in San Geronimo Pass. The airliner had seven passengers and three members of the crew, and also carried considerable baggage, express and mail.

Fourteen ships landed on the airport last Monday, which is an indication of the rapidly increasing business at the airport. Gus Parrish and Andy Anderson have also been very busy giving flying instructions.

If persons protesting against the cutting of part of Smoke Tree Forest wish to enter into a contract and finance the improvements, I will develop a smoke tree forest for them as this can be done at several nearby localities. If everyone is sincere about the preservation of the smoke trees there is no reason why the Palm Springs district cannot have in a short time another smoke tree forest for the smoke tree grows rapidly under favorable conditions. Criticism of the action of residents of Araby is somewhat as if the teeth of a gift horse are being examined.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Harker and son, Gordon, of San Pedro, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Franz B. Buerger over the week-end. Dr. Harker is a dentist and he and Dr. Buerger were classmates in the University of Southern California dental school.
